E. The route begins in Amsterdam, where cyclists have the opportunity to explore the city by riding around its famous canals.

Does the idea of combining exploration with the challenge of physical exercise appeal to you? If yes, then the guided bicycle tour from Amsterdam to Brussels is the perfect choice for you. The route is cycled, under the supervision of a guide, over the span of eight days. 21 Riders cycle about 24 miles per day or average and they also travel by train, barge and ferry.

22 Then, cyclists are taken by a ferry to the city of Breukelen, where the route continues for about 23 miles to the next city. Along the way, cyclists pass by many well-known sites, such as the impressive Castle de Haar. This castle was originally constructed in the 15th century. Because it was attacked repeatedly, it had to be restored several times. 23 Cyclists continue, after resting, to the old town of Hertogenbosch. Here, a must-see is the Cathedral of St. Jans., which has been admired for years for its Gothic architecture and richly decorated interior. 24 Next, there are a few more ferry trips and a lot more cycling until the Belgian border is finally crossed. After that, the cyclists board a train which finally takes them to Brussels. 25 A final dinner of typical Belgian specialties such as mussels, fries and waffles is offered to the cyclists. The bike tour is only available from the months of May to September, when the weather is guaranteed to provide a safe and enjoyable journey.

Part IV. 閱讀理解：請由四個選項中選出最適合者

The well-known pantomimist, Marcel Marceau, was a slender, intent person who, off stage, was capable of speaking four languages fluently. Yet to him, the world today needs more than one form of common communication. Pantomime is a universal art which breaks the language barriers and speaks to people of all ages, backgrounds, and nationalities. It is an illumination and reflection of our secret dreams and frustrations. Its source is the most interesting subject in the world: ourselves.

When Marceau walked onto the stage, there was nothing to assist his art except his costume and makeup. He wore tight white silk pants and a grey and black striped pullover—a modification of the classic clown suit. His white clown makeup made each of his expressions clearly visible.

In a classic performance, “Walking Against the Wind”, he battled this invisible natural force so effectively that the audience puffed for his effort. With never a prop, he climbed endless flights of stairs, rode bicycles, pulled a rope so real that you felt you could guess its dimensions. Then he created almost _simultaneously_ 15 separate characters in his “Public Garden”: a nanny, a balloon vendor, children playing, a man walking his dog, and old ladies knitting and chatting. This pantomime was one of the public’s favourites.

41. According to the article, a pantomimist is someone who…
(A) does tricks in a circus, like a clown. (B) acts out human behaviour without speaking

(A) He had a talent for languages. (B) He thought pantomime was the only way to communicate.
(C) He used many props to perform on the stage. (D) He put colourful makeup on his face when performing.

43. The word “simultaneously” in line 11 is closest in meaning to …
(A) previously (B) afterwards (C) at the same time (D) in advance
